

HELL! WHERE REALLY IS THAT?

Adegboyega Adejobi

Hell! Where really is that?

Is a multi-billion question upon the lips of billions
And many there be searching really for an answer

But come to think of it; where really is hell?

North, south, east or west - I really don't know

But one thing certain and sure is that there is hell

Because God who cannot lie said so in His Word

Hell is a terrible place of torment and tears

A place of weeping and gnashing of teeth

Where the worms though delicate do not die

And the fire fervently hot is not quenched

If you ask me one more time, 'Where really is hell?'

Then I will give you a bold and emphatic answer

That hell is at the end of the sinner's life

Only you should not wait till you die before finding it out

For then it will be too late to stop you from going there!
